PROFILE

With a foundational background in Plus Two Computer Commerce, I was introduced early to technology and developed a keen interest in web development. During my academic journey, I gained essential knowledge in HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, which helped me understand core frontend concepts and inspired me to pursue full-stack development.

I am currently strengthening my skills in Python, Django, and React at Febno Technologies, where I am learning to build real-world applications, follow industry-standard coding practices, and understand how modern frontend and backend systems work together to deliver complete solutions.
